SECOND DECLARATION OF STEVEN N. VERONA

I, Steven N. Verona, hereby declare and state the following:

1. I am the named inventor in United States Patent Application Serial Number 10/037,985 entitled TELECOMMUNICATION METHOD. All of the events discussed herein took place in the United States.
2. I created the document that was attached to my first Declaration in this matter with the title "Wireless Phone Pager" on or about the date typed at the bottom of the document (June 8, 1999) in the normal course of business, just as I have created many such documents.
3. My normal practice is to create such documents when I conceive of an invention, and then I later sign and date them in the presence of a notary public to create a record of my invention time frame. I followed that practice in this case.
4. Thus, the date that the "Wireless Phone Pager" document was created in my computer was June 8, 1999, and the date it was signed and notarized was May 19, 2000.
5. I remember conceiving this invention no later than the June 1999 time frame and then thinking for a short time about whether it would work.
6. While thinking about whether the invention would work, I searched for similar technology that would accomplish a similar purpose. I remember searching on the Internet generally and on the U.S. Patent and Trademark Office web site. I also looked for similar services offered by telephone companies. During this time I was working a full time job as well as inventing and experimenting with this invention and my other inventions.
7. No later than the end of 1999 I became satisfied my invention would work and that there was no technology like it available. I then signed the "Wireless Phone Pager" document and had it notarized in May 2000 as indicated on the document. I kept the document in my file until my attorney asked me for it in preparation of my first Declaration.
8. I have many inventions, and it is impossible for me to work on all of them at the same time. For example, I currently have at least 20 pending patent applications and other issued patents. I also have many other inventions that I am working on that have not been the subject of a patent application or patent.
9. After conceiving of the invention at issue, I knew that the invention was made up of some technology that already existed, such as the Dual Tone Multi-Frequency (DTMF) system used by touch-tone telephones to dial numbers, email to cell phones, etc. I also knew that it would be very expensive to test the invention in a real-world setting, and that doing so would be essentially impossible for a person with my income. Therefore, I met with people skilled in this technology to ascertain from them whether it would work.

10. I have confidentiality agreements with some or all of the people I met with, and I have attached those that I could locate in redacted form to maintain as confidential the terms of the agreements.

11. I could only meet with these people skilled in the technology to discuss my invention as their and my schedules permitted. Between meetings, I continued to apply my own knowledge of the invention to determine the issues I needed to address with these or other technical people.

12. During the periods of time discussed herein, I was employed full time, or was operating my own business, which made it difficult to work on my inventions. However, the events discussed herein are the specific events I can recall. The fact that there are not other events noted herein does not mean that I was not working on my invention between the events. It simply means that I cannot report on particular events during that time, despite the fact that my normal activity included work on my inventions during much of my free time.

13. Between about February 2000 and June 2000, I worked full time for a company and moved to Columbus, Ohio. Shortly thereafter, I started my own business.

14. In mid-February, 2000 I contacted, and then on March 5, 2000 I met with, Raymond Caruso and discussed how the invention would work so that consumers could use it. Our discussions focused on ease of use and a user interface. Mr. Caruso signed a confidentiality agreement, a redacted copy of which is appended.

15. On June 6, 2000 I met with David Harris to discuss software design necessary for the invention. Mr. Harris signed a confidentiality agreement, a redacted copy of which is appended.

16. On about June 22, 2000 I discussed with Mr. Harris by telephone further details of the invention, including details of developing the DTMF system.

17. In about June 2000, after moving to Columbus, I left my full-time employment and began a company that sold other inventions online. I also worked on this and other inventions. At about the same time, my ex-fiancée began having severe emotional problems that turned into mental problems leading to our breakup in about February 2001. All of this made it difficult to work on my inventions.

18. On about July 18, 2000 I discussed with Mr. Harris by telephone further details of the invention, including costs and the timeline for development.

19. On February 19, 2001 I met with Billy Karmia to discuss the invention in detail and share ideas on marketing it. Mr. Karmia signed a confidentiality agreement, a redacted copy of which is appended.

20. On about February 28, 2001 I again met with Billy Karmia to discuss marketing of the invention. I confirmed this date by consulting my calendar.

21. On March 17, 2001 I met with Mehran Habibi to discuss the invention and discuss costs of having Mr. Habibi develop software for the invention. I have a signed confidentiality agreement with Mr. Habibi, a redacted copy of which is appended.
22. On about March 21, 2001 I met again with Mr. Karmia to discuss marketing of, and investment in research for, the invention. I confirmed this date by consulting my calendar.
23. On about April 13, 2001 I met again with Mr. Karmia to discuss marketing of, and investment in research for, the invention. I confirmed this date by consulting my calendar.
24. On about May 15, 2001 I met again with Mr. Karmia to discuss marketing of, and investment in research for, the invention. I confirmed this date by consulting my calendar.
25. On about July 9, 2001 I met again with Mr. Karmia to discuss marketing of, and investment in research for, the invention. I confirmed this date by consulting my calendar.
26. On July 18, 2001 I met with Andrew S. Nycz to discuss the invention and investing in research for the invention. I have a signed confidentiality agreement with Mr. Nycz, a redacted copy of which is appended.
27. On August 6, 2001 I met with Barrett Snyder to discuss the invention, including the software development that was necessary to implement the invention. I also have a signed confidentiality agreement with Mr. Snyder, a redacted copy of which is appended.
28. On about October 4, 2001 I met again with Mr. Karmia to discuss investment in development and research of the invention. I confirmed this date by consulting my calendar.
29. On October 4, 2001 I purchased internet domain names for marketing the invention – nomorepager.com and nopager.com. See appended printouts evidencing this purchase date.
30. On October 16, 2001 I purchased two more internet domain names for marketing the invention – lifetimenumber.com and mypersonalnumber.com. See appended printouts evidencing this purchase date.
31. On October 16, 2001 I met with my patent attorney and instructed him to perform a patentability search for the invention. Appended is a redacted copy of the check made payable to my attorney for the search.
32. The results of the search were reported to me in a November 5, 2001 letter. Appended is a redacted copy of the first page of the letter. I am appending a redacted copy due to the need to maintain the communications in these documents as confidential to preserve the attorney-client privilege.

33. On November 8, 2001 I instructed my patent attorney to prepare and file a patent application for the invention. On November 16, 2001 I paid the patent attorney a retainer for the work; a redacted copy of the check is attached.

34. On December 7, 2001 my patent attorney sent me a draft patent application for review with a cover letter, a redacted copy of the first page of which is appended.

35. On December 13, 2001 and December 14, 2001 my patent attorney and I discussed changes to the draft application.

36. On December 18, 2001 my patent attorney mailed me a final draft of the patent application with papers to sign, including the declaration. A redacted copy of the first page of the cover letter is appended. I signed the papers and returned them by mail to the attorney.

37. On January 4, 2002, my patent attorney filed the patent application after receiving signed papers from me.

I declare that the foregoing is true and correct; that all statements that are made of my own knowledge are true and all statements made on information and belief are believed to be true; and that I have been warned that willful false statements and the like are punishable by fine or imprisonment, or both (18 U.S.C. §1001) and may jeopardize the validity of the application or any patent issuing thereon.
